

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds, and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of inferior brands. It contains no phosphorus, SODIUM PHOSPHATE, or other phosphoric powder. SOUD ONLY IN CANS. ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 165 Wall St., N. Y.

CHINA MATTINGS! CHINA MATTINGS!

Julius Lansburgh

315 7th Street N. W.,

Is now prepared to show the LARGEST, FINEST, and CHEAPEST line of CHINA MATTINGS ever placed before the public, comprising the following well known brands:

HONG-KONG WHITE MATTING.

CANTON FANCY MATTING.

YEDDO FANCY MATTING.

PEKIN WHITE MATTING.

COREA FANCY MATTING.

JOINTLESS LINTAN MATTING.

YANGTZE FANCY MATTING.

CHOEYSUN FANCY MATTING.

INSIACK FANCY MATTING.

GOLDEN LYON MATTING.

NINGPOO WHITE MATTING.

We have no hesitancy in saying the above line of Mattings are the FINEST and CHEAPEST ever shown in the DISTRICT.

MADRAS CURTAINS. MADRAS CURTAINS.

Having purchased the entire line of one of the largest importers of these goods in the United States, we will offer on TUESDAY, APRIL 17, and continue to sell through the week, 2,000 pair Madras Curtains in seven patterns at EXACTLY ONE-Half PRICE, ranging in price from $2.50 to $3.50, as follows:

LOT 1.

235 pair, at $2.50 per pair.

LOT 2.

264 pair, at $3.50 per pair.

LOT 3.

337 pair, at $3.50 per pair.

LOT 4.

373 pair, at $3.50 per pair.

LOT 5.

420 pair, at $1.50 per pair.

LOT 6.

565 pair Silk Madras, at $4.00 per pair.

LOT 7.

409 pair Silk Madras, at $5.00 per pair.

These goods must be seen to be appreciated, as printer's ink cannot do them justice. We expect to close the entire line this week.

LOOSE COVERS FOR FURNITURE. LOOSE COVERS FOR FURNITURE.

We make a specialty in this line. Covers cut and made to order at the lowest prices. Perfect fit and workmanship guaranteed.

In addition to the above specialties we have cut the prices for this week in our

FURNITURE DEPARTMENT,

CARPET DEPARTMENT,

RUG DEPARTMENT,

UPHOLSTERY DEPARTMENT.

In fact, every Department.

Julius Lansburgh, 315 7th St. N. W.

Diphtheria, Measles, Scarlet Fever, and other syphilitic diseases lurk in the atmosphere and hover over every household at this season of the year when thorough ventilation is impracticable on account of the severity of the weather. Frequent fumigation of apartments with Seabury's Hydrocephol purifies the air and removes the disease, and thoroughly disinfects all carpets, bedding and drapery while imparting a delightful aromatic odor that is not injurious to silver, brass, or other metals. Cellars, closets, attics, etc., should be made healthy by burning therein Seabury's Sulphur Candles, which are pure, cleanly, and safe. For the toilet, bath, lavatory, and nursery, Seabury's Hydrocephol Soap should be used exclusively. Don't forget Benson's Plaster for aches and pains.

BLANK BOOKS, WRITING PAPER, ENVELOPES.

E. Morrison, 605 D STREET.

GEO. WHITE & SONS,
Iron Works,
602 Maine Av. S.W.
Washn. D.C.

Our latest pattern of Iron Steps and Rail.

PARK RAILINGS A SPECIALTY.

Established 1840.

K EYES & CO.,
WILLARD'S HOTEL STABLES, Corner Fourteenth and D Streets Northwest.

Branch Office at the Arlington.

LABOR DAY IN THE HOUSE.

MR. E. H. TAYLOR AND MR. TARS NEY COLLIDE.

A Lengthy Discussion on the Arbitration Bill in Which a Great Variety of Sentiments Are Expressed. The Senate on Dakota.

Mr. Evans, from the committee on foreign relations, in the Senate yesterday, reported back (adversely) Mr. Blodget's resolution to suspend the rules as to executive sessions during the consideration of the tariffs treaty.

The report was placed on the calendar and ordered printed.

Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Morrill authorizing the purchase of a site, a building for the Supreme Court of the United States.

After discussion on the resolution to investigate and transmit to the Senate the Senate's resolution on the arbitration bill on the previous day to force it to be voted into certain lands heretofore granted for the purpose of adding in the construction of the English interests.

The discussion was carried on by Senator Dolph, Palmer, Stockdale, Berry, Sawyer, Blair, Davis, and Blair. It ended at 2:25 o'clock without the bill having any votes taken. At the close of the debate, many Irishmen appeared to fight their battle at the ballot boxes of America, seduced by the word "Democrats" and appeared in large numbers in the United States to break down American interests, and to build up English interests.

Mr. Tarsney regretted that anything he had said might have opened up a political question, but he said that he had been told that it was the cold lines of law enacted during the last twenty-five years by such gentlemen as the gentleman from Ohio that had produced the labor troubles, the compensation of which had brought about this condition of things, and he said, addressing Mr.
Tarsney, "You say you are too many Irishmen on the floor of the House to-day representing districts in Congress, but I say to you that this has been in the history of the country when you, skulking behind your masks, called the country 'Appalachee on the Domestic side and in the galleries.' I was born in Michigan, I am American, and stand here under American flag, an American citizen always; but where you are known, like I have,
I have the right to love them and protect them. The clowns have quite heavy, the walls high, and it seems almost impossible for a man to get through over them being set up on the house itself, especially so when the bill was introduced upon the debate of which he was referred to the committee on claims. So ordered."

Mr. Tarsney, when quizzed, had responded that the gentleman from Michigan misunderstood his speech, but he was convinced what he said, and that the gentleman had not said that there were too many Irishmen in the country. He had well-thought them from his young days, and had never heard of any Irishman who obtained a seat in the House.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Taylor, when quizzed had responded that the gentleman from Michigan mis-
understood his speech, but he was convinced what he said, and that the gentleman
had not said that there were too many
Irishmen in the country. He had well-
thought them from his young days, and
had never heard of any Irishman who
obtained a seat in the House.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tarsney had the veto turned upon
a difference of opinion between the President and himself, and he had to go to the Senate to get a vote of confidence.

Senators Edmunds and Chamberlain
questioned the propriety of the provision which would give the President
the power to call a special session of
the Senate and the Speaker of the House
at 12 o'clock, adjourned.

Mr. Tars